FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Nothing Can Stop the New Warrior of Metal

Black Paul, the new warrior of metal, is launching his new website (www.blackpaulrock.com) to coincide with his upcoming European trip to promote his demo and media kit to interested labels and producers. Hailing from Vancouver, British Columbia, Black Paul's distinguished and powerful voice and strong, mesmerizing presence make him the new threat in the world of rock. With vocals that have been compared to Hetfield from Metallica, Ian Astbury of the Cult, and Jim Morrison, his style is best described as Danzig with an edge, with the power of Phil Anselmo (Pantera) and a hint of Alex Mitchell (Circus of Power).

In February, Black Paul will be shooting his new music video in Vancouver. Subscribers of www.blackpaulrock.com and the Damsels of Darkness entrants could win a chance to be in the video, t-shirts, posters or copies of Black Paul's upcoming debut album, King of the Night. With songs featuring guitar marvel Jimi Bell, the album fuses elements of old school rock and new school soul and promises to rock your world with songs like Conduit, Nothing's Gonna Stop ME! and Sacred Flow, all of which have already received rave reviews from the heavy metal industry and fans worldwide. "He is this big ripped dude with a shaved head. His vocals sound like Danzig" said Jimi Bell in a recent interview with Rockeyez. Jimi will be doing some solos for Black Paul while working with the House of Lords.

As a young rock musician, Paul was inspired by ACDC, Van Halen, Ratt, Motley Crue, Judas Priest, Iron Maiden, Metallica, Megadeth, Yngwie Malmstein, Whitesnake, Great White, Skid Row, Neil Young, Alice Cooper and Ozzy Osbourne. After performing with many Vancouver-based bands, Paul helped form a band that won a Battle of the Bands contest leading to his recording two songs at Little Mountain Studios in Canada. These opportunities enabled Paul to cross paths with rock legends such as Bob Rock, Aerosmith, Darby Mills and Dee Snyder. After graduating from high school, Paul continued to sing and play while focusing on academics in Seattle and Europe. Shortly thereafter, he discovered his large biological family in Bermuda, including his renowned professional singer father and pianist mother. Finding his biological parents inspired Paul to further explore his musical abilities. He began singing in a gospel choir, and when he reached a four and a half octave range, he knew he could apply his vocal skills to his passion for rock to create a unique sound.

Look for features on Black Paul in the metal magazines in Europe and on Hollywood Music TV in February. Read more about the King of the Night at www.blackpaulrock.com and subscribe to get regular updates on performances, contests and a chance to appear in his music video. Nothing can stop this powerful black priest of metal saviors.
